JANUARY - MAY 2006 NEWSLETTER

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the first of three newsletters for the year 2006. This newsletter covers developments that have taken place in Team Namibia, snippets and stories on what our members have been busy with and you can look forward to information on what you as a Namibian can be proud of.

In 2005, His Excellency, President Hifikepunye Pohamba, joined the campaign as a supporting member. Earlier this year, he agreed to act as a spokesperson of the campaign, which is a real booster for the campaign and another milestone achieved.

Another story of interest covered in this edition, is - Namibia is producing bananas and enough to sell to the local market. The banana producers will be harvesting approximately 40 tons of Naturally Namibian bananas per month. This shows that we have once again, underestimated our capabilities and resources. Who ever thought Namibia could produce bananas?

We have added another piece of information towards the end of the newsletter, which looks at things that you probably did not know about Namibia. This piece features "Did you know" information on our industry, people, sports, science, environment and much more and will be a regular feature of this newsletter. Now we have more reason to be proud of our beautiful country. Team Namibia is considering publishing the "did you know" information as a supplement with a local magazine.

We trust that you will enjoy this edition. This newsletter is published on a quarterly basis and it is available on the Team website www.teamnamibia.com, look out for the next one early October 2006.

HAPPY READING!

HIS EXCELLENCY, PRESIDENT HIFIKEPUNYE POHAMB Official Team Namibia Campaign Spokesperson

Team Namibia approached His Excellency President Pohamba to be a supporting member of the campaign, in June 2006. He has not only agreed to join the campaign but has also agreed to be a spokesperson for the campaign. His role is one of making sure the Team message reaches all Namibians and assist Team Namibia in promoting local. We welcome His Excellencies willingness for Team Namibia to make use of his valuable time and role as the most important person in the country to create awareness around Team Namibia and meet our set objectives.

For those who listened to the President's State of the Nation address earlier in March 2006, will have noticed that President Pohamba made mention of Team Namibia and commended initiatives such as Team Namibia and in this His Excellency has recognised the importance of the Team Namibia's promotional initiatives that of promoting Namibian products and services of good quality locally and internationally.

Team Namibia will continue to focus its attention on recruiting more members to the supporters club and to the campaign in general.

NAMIBIAN AGRICULTURAL SECTOR – NAMIBIA IS GROWING BANANAS!

Team Namibia received word of a farm in the Etunda area (Northern Namibia), managed by Willie von Langsberg (voted the master agronomist for 2006), that will be harvesting approximately 40 tons (which is a lot) of Namibian bananas per month. Who would have thought! We are indeed a productive country.

FINANCIAL INDUSTRY – More members join this initiative

In March 2006, the President of the Namibia Insurance Brokers Association (NIBA), Mr PC Cilliers, approached Team Namibia to have NIBA join the campaign. Mr Cilliers subsequently registered four companies, where he is involved, these companies include, Namibia Data Repository, Namibia Development Services, Namibia Insurance Brokers, Sternlink Financial Services and NIBA. NIBA has since been promoting the campaign to their members in an effort to have their members be accredited for Team membership.

As far as this industry is concerned, we have thus far recruited Sternlink Financial Services, Paul Smit Insurance Brokers and interest has been shown by Adri Basson Private Wealth Management & W Biederlack & Co to join the campaign. Team Namibia welcomes these companies on board and we look forward to having other NIBA members joining.

Consumers can now look forward to professional financial advice and assistance from Team Namibia members in this industry – as Team Namibia only accredits services providers who adhere to quality service provision.

NAMIBIAN PRODUCTS IN RETAIL OUTLETS Remains a challenge, but the sun is on the horizon!

One of the real challenges facing Team Namibia is that of soliciting support from local retailers to provide shelf space for Namibian products. Team Namibia finds it a challenge to promote local products if consumers are unable to find these in the outlets they purchase consumables from.

Many Namibian manufacturers have the need to display and sell their products in local retail outlets. However, they sometimes experience difficulties in being accepted as suppliers to retail outlets. Retailers experience certain problems with local producers and their products. A forum was organised by the Namibia Manufacturers Association (NMA), which took place in Windhoek on 6 April 2006, as an initial step to discuss pertinent challenges faced by retailers and manufacturers with regards to shelf space.

Retailers cited concerns relating to quality, availability, affordability, consistency and distribution of manufactured products on the part of local manufacturers. They, the retailers further emphasised on a need for local manufacturers to put effort into the development of local brands. The Namibian manufacturers on their part cited high listing fees, dumping, the fact that procurement was done in South Africa and promotional brochures were done in South Africa, leading to a lack of communication between South African listing companies and the Namibian products and thus Namibian products are ignored and not available in retail outlets.

After in depth discussions, a committee consisting of retail and manufacturing representatives was elected to further investigate the possibility of resolving these issues.

This committee consists of the following persons:

Terence Harty (Retailer – Pick 'n Pay), Paul Malan (Retailer – Shoprite Namibia), Desmond van Jaarsveld (Manufacturer – Namibia Dairies) and Rene Rusch (Manufacturer – Elso Holdings)

For more information on the workshop, please contact the NMA, CEO, Mr Hennie Fourie at (061) 233260 or 081 1247452. More information on developments after this workshop will be provided in future newsletters.

PROMOTIONS

Team Namibia is looking to build on our credibility through Public Relations and look forward to member support in this regard. Thus far the campaign has aimed to leverage on existing events that can provide for exposure and marketing of Naturally Namibian products. The African Expo that will be hosted in South Africa, Midrand, at the Gallagher Estate, during the month of May 2006 looks to secure additional markets for Namibian products in South Africa. The initiative is spearheaded by the Namibian High Commission in South Africa and those members who provided their brochures and products will be represented there. We hope that this event reaps viable returns for those exhibiting. More information on the event outcomes will be available in the next newsletter.

TNewsletter

A new initiative includes the promotion of new members to the Team Namibia campaign. April 2006, saw the first of a monthly introduction to New Members to the Team Namibia campaign in the New Era Newspaper. All New members can look forward to being promoted as credible organisations providing impeccable products and/or services.

Keep your ears glued to Radio Energy and NBC National Radio for information on Team Namibia and in-depth discussions on the benefits consumers and businesses can derive from supporting local.

NIANELL PLEDGES SUPPORT TO TEAM NAMIBIA

Nianell

Team Namibia approached Nianell at her last show held in September 2005 at the Windhoek Country Club & Resort. We requested her to be part of the Team Namibia campaign geared towards supporting local and to assist Team Namibia in spreading the Team message in the Namibian market, thus creating awareness about Team Namibia amongst her local fan base.

She has subsequently agreed to join the supporters club and through this we hope to have her assist Team Namibia in spreading the "Buy Namibian" message. For those of you who were not aware, Nianell is a born and bred Namibian and religiously enjoys her holidays in Namibia.

According to a press release, Nia Nell is one of the foremost musical talents in South Africa, where she currently resides. She is not only a singer but also a songwriter, and this talent is bestowed on very few people and one of those is Nianell and what a bonus, she is Namibian.

Team Namibia is also proud to inform that one of Nianell's songs "Just for tonight" will feature as a soundtrack in an American movie Van Vorst Park – that is a remarkable achievement and hope and pray that she brings an Oscar back home.

(Story provided by Ohlthaver & List Group of Companies, Mr Patrick Hashingola, Group PRO)

(Courtesy of Namibia Dairies)

Namibia Dairies (Pty) Limited was, on 10 April, awarded the ISO 9001:2000 Certification related to the company's quality management systems and processes which the company employs to realise its products.

The certification denotes Namibia Dairies' full compliance with all the international requirements of ISO 9001:2000. The certification was awarded to the company following a thorough audit conducted by the certification body South African Bureaus of Standards (SABS) during December 2005.

"Conformity of quality systems and procedures to international standards provides assurance to employees, customers and consumers about the safety and reliability of Namibia Dairies' quality managements systems and processes". This is the view of Desmond van Jaarsveld, Managing Director of Namibia Dairies (Pty) Limited, Namibia's major supplier of fresh milk and dairy products.

Speaking at the same occasion, Mr. Berthold Mukuahima, Director Human Capital of Ohlthaver & List (Namibia Dairies' mother company) said that: "...standards will help Namibia Dairies to reduce technology complexity, and help employees to exchange information productively. In short - standards will assist employees to better understand the processes in which they function and their roles therein."

The certification ceremony was attended by guest of honour Honourable Petrus Ilonga (Deputy Minister of Labour and Social Welfare), Mrs. Millicent Julius (Representative of SABS), Executives of Namibia Dairies, Executives of the O&L Group, and Namibia Dairies' trade partners.

Our “Naturally Namibian” Environment

Did you know that? “Namibia is a startling country - a celebration of the weird and wonderful. It contains the world's second largest canyon, the highest sand dunes, the oldest desert, the largest existing meteorite, the smallest antelope, some of the most bizarre plants and many other truly unusual attractions. Everywhere you look, there is something astonishing.” (Source: www.safarinow.com)

Namibia is the first country in the world to incorporate ‘Protection of the Environment’ into its national constitution. This law protects about 15% of Namibia's land area from commercial or agricultural development, and designates these areas as national parks. (Source: www.funtrivia.com)

Cheetah
(Courtesy of Yanna Smith)

There is an estimated 2 500 to 3 000 cheetah in Namibia. However this is not a scientifically-based estimate and more accurate research continues. Cheetahs are under pressure from farming and ranching encroachment on their habitat. Leopards and lions are also indigenous big cats in Namibia, but due to the combined efforts of the CCF and local farmers, we now have the biggest population of self-sufficient cheetahs in the world.

The dunes in Sossusvlei are the highest in the world by 110m - they are about 325m when measured from the base.

Namibia has the longest underground lake in the world. The lake is called the Dragon's Breath Lake, and is in the Otavi Mountains, north-east Namibia. The lake was discovered in 1986, and its surface area is about two hectares. The cave system containing the lake is home to a large population of bats, and their guano floating on the lake surface has produced a unique ecosystem. (Source: www.funtrivia.com)

Our People

Many of our fellow countrymen have on numerous occasions made each and every one of us really proud.

But did you know?

Paulus Nangonya, a 29-year-old engineer, born in Namibia, is the youngest-ever nuclear inspector at the International Atomic Energy Agency (Source: www.iaea.org) (IAEA), the organisation known as the United Nations' nuclear watchdog. Nangonya and his colleagues at the Vienna-based organisation (along with IAEA's director, Mohamed ElBaradei) were the winners of the 2005 Nobel Peace Prize. He is the first Namibian to win a Nobel Peace Prize as far as our research showed and every Namibian should be extremely proud, about this remarkable achievement made by Paulus, an ex-Centaurus High School pupil.

Jürgen Strydom a tennis player reached semi-finals in the doubles at Junior Wimbledon in the United Kingdom in June 2005. He was the first Namibian to qualify and participate in a junior grand slam tennis event (Junior Australian Open Tennis Championship). In 2005, Jürgen was ranked 69th in the world. This is definitely something all Namibians should be proud of as Jürgen is only 18 years old.

Sports and Science

Namibia is blessed with exceptional sportsmen and women who continue to put the country on the map and serve as positive role models for the Namibian youth and for all Namibians in general (Source: www.namibiasport.com).

Did you know? The majorities of Namibian sportsmen and women have day jobs and are committed to playing sports for the country. They do it for the love of sports and for the love of the country.

Did you know? Wouter Vermeulen, a Namibian, contributed considerably to NASA, he had to complete projects emailed from NASA to qualify for a trip to NASA after winning the science fair in Namibia. One of them was where he had to design a robotic arm and his ball joints were of better design than NASA's. The engineers actually emailed him about them!!

Business & Products

Did you know? Namibia makes the best beer in Africa and all Namibian beer conforms to the German Reinheitsgebot (purity law) of 1516. "Duke Wilhelm of Bavaria, in 1516, passed the Reinheitsgebot, which is considered to be the oldest food law still in existence. This edict permits the use of only malted barley, hops and water in the brewing of pure quality beers. It strictly forbids the use of any additives, colourants or preservatives. All NBL beers are brewed in strict accordance with this purity law. Namibian Beer is so good that the South African sailing team even preferred Namibian beer as shown by them drinking Windhoek Lager (sponsored by Namibia Breweries) during one of their races?

Did you know? According to some Namibians, Namibia has the best beef in the world. Of course the Namibians who testify to this have traveled the world over and still consider Namibian beef to be the best. Guess it is better when it is from home! Namibian Beef is FREE RANGE, NATURALLY PRODUCED

Windhoek Light
(Courtesy of Namibia Breweries)

Did you know? Windhoek Light is the best light beer in the world. The beer won the gold award at the Brewing Industry International Awards. Windhoek light is also a healthy choice as endorsement from the South African Heart Foundation, says it all.

These are just a few things we can be proud of as Namibians, and with such success, we should not only be proud of our achievements but also contribute to making sure we achieve more as a country. Namibia is a haven of potential, it just needs to be tapped and if every Namibian supported local, Namibia will become a country to be reckoned with. So, BUY NAMIBIAN, every time you can and make your contribution to Nation building.

CONCLUSION

Richard Roty, A philosopher, once said that National pride is to countries what self-respect is to individuals: a necessary condition for self-improvement. He further went on to say that a nation that does not evoke enough pride in its people will find it hard to tap their capacity for achievement and sacrifice. Those with no pride in their country will have no motivation to seek their personal growth in conjunction with their nation's needs and development.

Team Shosalosa
(Courtesy of Namibia Breweries)

As Namibians we will need to align our individual personal growth to the development of our country, and this will make us responsible citizens of Namibia. With pride in our country, we should strive to associate ourselves with activities that add value to the country.

When buying Team Namibia products and services, branded as Naturally Namibian, you are making your personal contribution to the development of the country.

In light of the above, Team Namibia urges all Namibians to Buy Naturally Namibian products and or services, be responsible citizens and through this pledge allegiance to NAMIBIA – the land of the brave!
